Abstract

In this talk, the speaker will first present several results established by the speaker using the local bijectivity of Keller maps, then use these results to present his attempt to give a proof of 2-dimensional Jacobian conjecture. The main contents in this talk can be found in the paper recently posted to arxiv:1603.01867.